Logline: How did you know you were in love with someone? Does that feeling ever go away? A box that traps you into the memory of when you first felt love in your heart. Jade uncovers the memory of a beautiful, but painful love through an impromptu interview conversation and learns that she doesn't regret anything.

Jade, an African- American college student walks into a blank space completely empty and is asked questions about a specific memory. We never hear the questions asked, but as the audience hears we can make out what questions are being asked. She is asked to remember the day that she fell in love with someone. Jade hesitant at first to share her feelings, she is intrigued by what could come out of this conversation. Jade grabs a TV from off screen and decides to make this into a movie as if she is not recreating the entire experience for everyone to see.

The television set lights up and the story begins. Aaron, a lighter skinned African American, is shown opening the door for a girl who is Jade portrayed from the past. They had just come from a date night at the arcade and they had rambunctious energy and giggle exchanged between them. Jade starts to intensely stare into Aaron's eyes and PAUSE. Present Jade pauses the movie and explains how she felt in this exact moment. She says that she was "on FIRE with love" for Aaron. As she starts getting emotional accessing those emotions again we return to the movie.

The past Jade starts to cry as well. Aaron confronts her and asks why she is crying and Jade tells him how she is happy with him. She tells him "I LOVE YOU". Gabe starts to excitedly freaking out as if it is unbelievable. He has been waiting for this moment, the day he met her. Jade asks him to be her boyfriend. They passionately kiss and Aaron makes a promise to not hurt her and support her no matter what in her dreams.

We pause and enter the present Day where Jade is staring towards the Tv with regret and anger. She tells the people that she doesn't have regrets from what she did with Aaron, but regrets not taking time. She talks about how she was happy to feel love the way she did and she wouldn't trade that feeling for the world. A film like this is for every woman who is scared to love. It's to allow people to not feel alone in their feelings but also to be okay with love not always lasting because sometimes that feeling is worth it all.
